You are required to submit the digital version of your final thesis to espace. The results of your research will be made publicly available via the Curtin Library Catalogue TROVE, and Google.

Please upload your final thesis along with this form to: <http://thesesupload.library.curtin.edu.au/>.
You will not be eligible to graduate until this is completed.

If you are requesting a permanent embargo on the grounds that the thesis contains highly sensitive material, you must obtain approval from the Dean of the Graduate Research School (see Page 3).*

Copyright Clearance for Published Material

If your thesis includes any published material, you must obtain permission from the copyright owners to use it.

- I have obtained permission from the copyright owners to reproduce their material in my thesis (permission statements are included in an appendix to the thesis).
- I have not been able to obtain permission from the copyright owners to reproduce published material in my thesis. I have removed from the thesis all copyright material for which I don't have permission, and replaced each removed section with an explanatory statement. I have listed below the sections which have been removed.

Commercial Restrictions or Publication Pending

Please consider if your thesis contains University IP that is subject to commercial obligations, claims or restrictions imposed by the external organisation(s)/partner(s)/source(s) of funding that supported your research? (Such restrictions might include constraints on publishing, confidentiality agreements, third party ownership intellectual property or considerations for protecting intellectual property prior to patent filing for commercialisation etc.) Also may be applicable if you have submitted a paper which is pending publication.

- I have confirmed with my Supervisor that the material contained in my thesis is not subject to any commercial restrictions arising from agreements between the University and external research partners, OR I have received the necessary approvals required for publication under any relevant agreements with external research partners.

Embargo Request

If you have a publication in review, or press reporting on material in your thesis, you may apply for a 2 year (maximum) embargo.

- I request a two (2) year embargo to restrict access. The thesis metadata (including title, author, and abstract) will be displayed publicly during the embargo period. At the end of the embargo period, the thesis will be made available online.
If your thesis contains sensitive material which due to ethical reasons cannot be made publicly available, you may need a 5 year, or permanent embargo. Please complete Page 3, clearly setting out why the thesis must be restricted access.

Student Declaration

- I declare that the electronic version of my thesis lodged with the Library is the same as the final copy submitted to my Supervisor, for which I have been awarded a Pass. Note: If the final copy is not suitable for espace due to copyright restrictions, you will also need to provide a partial version of the thesis with the restricted material removed and replaced with an explanatory statement.
- I grant to Curtin University or its duly authorised agent the right to archive and to make available all or part of my thesis, not covered by embargo, in the University's institutional repository in all formats.
- I confirm that all statements on this form are true and correct.
